Did you know?

The first international modern Olympic Games took place in 1896 in Greece.

Rugby first appeared in the 1900 Olympic Games in Paris. It was played again in the 1908, 1920 and 1924 Games. However, rugby wouldn't feature in another Olympics until 2016!

Activity 3 - Dream BIG!

Athletes need to think positively to achieve their goals. They have a picture of their goal in their minds and work hard to accomplish it.

Can you use the power of your mind to complete the mental maths calculations?

Activity 4 - Thunderbolts and Lightning

The modern Olympic Games are based on the ancient Olympic Games. These games honoured the Greek Gods.

Using the storyboard sheet, plan a story about one of the Greek Gods and then write your own myth!

Make a family member take the role of Coach Hades and feel the burn! Listen to their instructions and try to do as many of the below as you can.

- Star jumps
- Shuttle runs
- Hopping
- High knees
- Throwing and catching without dropping the ball!

FEELING HOT, HOT, HOT!

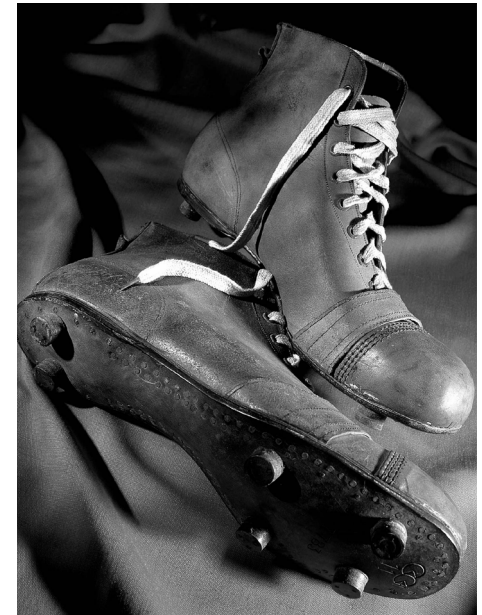

In 1908, the Olympic rugby final was played on 26th October. It was a dark and miserable day. Conditions were terrible, thick fog and mud hindered play, and the ball became greasy and heavy after its many trips into the Olympic swimming pool next to the pitch!

Now, the Olympics are usually held in the summer when it's scorching hot.

Research the following and create an information leaflet on how athletes can stay safe in the sun:

- ❖ How does light work and how does it help us to see?
- ❖ How safe is light from the sun?
- ❖ How can we protect ourselves in the summer? Think about all of the human body.

DREAM BIG! MENTAL MATHS

The Olympic organisers are struggling to keep track of all the athletes.

THUNDERBOLTS AND LIGHTNING

The Greek Gods were very powerful but also felt human emotions, like love, anger and jealousy, and they did not always behave themselves—they sometimes played tricks on humans!

They lived in a palace in the clouds where they kept an eye on people. They'd even interfere from time to time!

Zeus was king of the gods. He was best known for throwing thunderbolts at those who disobeyed him!

Choose one of the Greek Gods above. Find some key facts about them. Use the storyboard on the next page to plan a story on your chosen Greek God. If you don't have a printer, draw your own!

THUNDERBOLTS AND LIGHTNING

Draw pictures in the grey box. Write your story in the pale red box.

GREEK GOD STORY

Now you've planned your story, it's time to write!

Remember to:

- ❖ Organise your ideas into clear paragraphs
- ❖ Use conjunctions to extend your sentences
- ❖ Use and punctuate direct speech e.g. "I will send a thousand thunderbolts down upon the village!" shouted Zeus, angrily.
- ❖ Describe the settings in detail using impressive adjectives
